Privacy Policy - Til

Your privacy is a great concern to us. Read below to see what information is collected when you use Til iOS app, why it is collected, and how it is used to improve your overall experience when using the App.

Collection of Personal Information

We DO NOT COLLECT ANY INFORMATION THAT YOU TYPE using this app. When you allow full access for Til, you may be warned that the keyboard can be used to "transmit anything you type, including things you have previously typed with this keyboard." This is the standard warning message for all third-party input methods, however Til does not collect any personal information or transmit such information to a server or third party.

Disclosure of Personal Information

As we do not collect any personal information, your personal information is safe and will not be disclosed to any third party unless you have consented explicitly to such a disclosure, or where there is a legal requirement for this to happen.

Access Required and Usage

Some of the features (including typing assistant) of Til needs you to enable "allow full access." The App need this access in order to read setting information from the Til settings app. Til will only read data, and no personal information will be stored.

Policy Changes

Any changes to this policy will be posted to an update of the App. You are advised to regularly view our most recent privacy policy.